Conference & Curriculum Fair March 11-12, 2022

Indian Hills Community Church
Lincoln, Nebraska

You are graciously invited to attend . . .

The NCHEA's 35th Annual Conference and Curriculum Fair (C&CF). The ultimate purpose of the C&CF is to bring glory and honor to our Lord Jesus Christ in all that is said and done. We hope that the workshops and keynote sessions serve to be a witness to the lost, encouragement to the downtrodden, provide fellowship for believers, and a time of rest for weary parents.

Why should you attend? Come to . . .

- ♦ Be inspired and encouraged by our speakers
- ♦ Shop the exhibit halls and see what's new
- ♦ Meet and have fellowship with other like-minded home-educating parents
- ♦ Mentor new homeschooling parents
- ♦ Learn about homeschooling and parent-led education
- ♦ Enjoy "couple time" away from home and children
- ♦ Be blessed

Sincerely,

NCHEA Board, Officers, and Conference Committee

Featured Speakers

---

Todd Wilson

The Family Guy

Todd started Familyman Ministries with this mission: “to remind dads of what’s most important.” How to accomplish this mission has grown, along with the ministry. The original weekly email (the Familyman Weekly) sent out to just over a hundred dads is now sent out to thousands of dads across the country. He wants to remind men that being a dad is the most important job you’ll ever have, and you only get one shot at it! (He has a lot of encouragement for moms too.)

Todd is the author of Help! I’m Married to a Homeschooling Mom and The Official Book of Homeschooling Cartoons. He is also a former pastor. Todd’s humor and gut-honest realness have made him a favorite speaker at homeschool conventions across the country and a guest on Focus on the Family. His articles have appeared in various magazines. Christianity Today also posts his weekly column (The Familyman Weekly) on their website.

Dan Beasley

HSLDA

As an HSLDA staff attorney, Dan serves HSLDA member families and advocates for homeschool freedom in 12 states, including Nebraska. He represents families who face legal challenges to their right to homeschool and regularly corresponds with school officials, college admissions staff, legislators, and government agencies regarding the legality and effectiveness of homeschooling.

Dan was homeschooled through high school and went on to earn a juris doctorate from Oak Brook College of Law and a master’s degree in applied biblical studies from Moody Bible Institute. He and his wife Bethany (also a homeschool graduate) are homeschooling their five children.

LaNissir James

HSLDA, High School Consultant

A homeschooling mom and leader, LaNissir has a passion to serve the home-educating community. She provides social, spiritual, academic, and supervisory support for families in local groups and encourages and equips homeschool graduates to transition into colleges, careers, and vocational schools.

As an HSLDA high school consultant, LaNissir loves speaking to parents to encourage and support their homeschooling with empathetic, engaging, and practical wisdom. She says, “The joy of helping a family feel confident that they can homeschool is priceless.”

She earned her B.S. in journalism from the University of Maryland College Park, is Myers-Briggs Type Indicator certified, and is pursuing a master’s degree in biblical studies.

LaNissir is wife to Lorenzo, who also serves the homeschooling community through sports programs, photography services, and photography classes. She is the mother of seven beautiful homeschooled children (five girls and two boys) with ages ranging from toddler to young adult. Her hobbies include reading, traveling, photography, and kayaking.

Deborah Wuehler

Old Schoolhouse® Magazine, Senior Editor

Deborah and Richard have been homeschooling their 8 children for over 25 years. Deborah is an author, speaker, and devotional leader. Deborah’s passion is to encourage homeschool families to keep their focus on Christ and His Word, and to let them know they are making the best educational choice possible when they choose to keep their children home where they belong.

Mikaela Betka, OD, FCOVD

Dr. Betka graduated from Northeastern State University Oklahoma College of Optometry in 2015 and completed a residency in developmental vision and neuro-optometric vision rehabilitation in 2016. Dr. Betka is the co-founder and behavioral optometrist at inSIGHT Vision Performance Center. She is an expert in binocular vision and visual processing deficiencies and loves to help patients of all ages achieve their best possible vision. Her goal is to give patients the skills that they need to be successful in school, work, sports, and life.

Kathleen Cotter Clayton

Kathleen is the daughter of Dr. Joan A. Cotter, author and creator of the RightStart™ Mathematics program. She is one of the first children to grow up under the RightStart principles. Kathleen has a degree in Home Economics and a minor in Business from the University of Minnesota and has two Masters Degrees from the University of Mary in Bismarck, North Dakota. Kathleen and her husband Steve have six adult children and six delightful grandchildren. Kathleen is responsible for curriculum development, marketing, and sales.

Nancy Coffey

Nancy is a certified Wilson dyslexia practitioner and CERI certified structured literacy/ dyslexia interventionist. As the vice president of the Nebraska Dyslexia Association, her desire to inform and educate individuals on dyslexia and the science of reading is done through the bimonthly NDA newsletter that she produces. She has taught middle school social studies and reading, she has been a school librarian, and ended her career as an intermediate resource teacher. Nancy is a reading and math interventionist and mentors teachers and parents who she has connected with through the Science of Reading: What I Should Have Learned in College Facebook page.

Gretchen Garrison

When Gretchen Garrison started homeschooling in 2008, she and her husband, Kyle, had four kids six and under. At that point, she did not anticipate how slowly and quickly the journey would go - they graduated their first senior in the spring of 2021. Back in 2013, she started her blog, Odyssey Through Nebraska, to help her family study and travel Nebraska that school year purposefully. The blog continued and has resulted in three books so far. Detour Nebraska: Historic Destinations and Natural Wonders was published in the fall of 2017. In 2020, both A History Lover's Guide to Lincoln and 100 Things to Do in Lincoln Before You Die became available. Gretchen and her family live on an acreage just west of Lincoln.

Dara Halydier

Dara is a pastor's wife, a Bible teacher, a conference and retreat speaker, a mentor, a friend, mother of 5 grown boys, and grandma of 11 beautiful children. She homeschooled for 21 wonderful years and is now encouraging other homeschooling families by speaking across the nation at homeschool conferences. Dara helped to start two local support groups Texas. She is the executive director of Abiding Truth Ministry and the author of the Practical Proverbs series and As They Sit and Stand: A Resource and Guide for Teaching Your children the Bible.

Monica Irvine

Monica specializes in etiquette and professional instruction to help ensure the success of each individual both personally and professionally. She has written five books on etiquette including Raising a Generation of Ladies and Gentlemen and A Schedule Makes for a Happy Family.

She speaks to thousands of parents, educators, professionals and children every year.

Amy Juett

Amy is a second-generation homeschooler making her home at the end of the road on the banks of the Calamus River with her husband and five children. She is passionate about cultivating the connections that matter most and seeks to help moms do just that through writing and speaking on biblical encouragement, intentional parenting, homeschooling, and practical homemaking. She would love to connect with you on her website www.amyjuett.com.

Tyler Morten

Tyler is a father of five. He has a passion for all-things tech. He graduated from the University of Nebraska with a major in Management Information Systems. He currently works in the financial industry and is a co-founder of two Lincoln-area tech startups. He helps serve at his local church in the technology area. He is also on the board of directors for the NCHEA.

Yvonne Strachan

With over 12 years of homeschooling her 5 children and over 9 years of experience as a homeschool group leader, consultant, and speaker, Yvonne understands the questions, concerns, challenges, and needs facing families. Having overcome many challenges in her homeschooling adventure, she is uniquely qualified to encourage, nurture, and guide the success of others. A deeply steadfast belief in God's will and Word guides her passion and desire to aid others in their challenging yet rewarding homeschool journeys. She has written "Inspirational Homeschooling." You can visit her blog at www.inspirationalhomeschooling.com

Danna Swartz

Danna and her husband Patrick have volunteered with NCHEA for more than 10 years. They are both involved with teaching their children and work professionally as educators at Clarkson College and corporate training facilities. They love to work with new homeschool families to help equip them for the mission ahead.

Teen Conference

Adam Lloyd Johnson

Adam served as a local church pastor for 8 years before God called him to serve others through the ministry of apologetics. He earned his PhD at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, teaches classes for Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and Rhineland Theological Seminary in Germany, and serves with a university campus ministry called Ratio Christi at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. He specializes in providing good reasons and evidence to believe that Christianity is true. You can learn more about his ministry at www.convincingproof.org

Timothy Schmidt

Timothy is a father of 4 and a graduate of The Master's Seminary. He has served as the preaching pastor in the Evangelical Free Church of Firth for the past 10 years. Through a variety of outlets, his passion to train young people to defend their beliefs has been growing since his own days of standing firm in the faith when he was a student at UNL in the mid 90's.

Freedom: It's Why We Homeschool

By Deborah Wuehler, Old Schoolhouse Magazine

Sitting at music lessons, I met a mom who had just started homeschooling this year. She pulled her little one out of public school because her daughter was struggling in that environment. She was telling me how much better it is going at home for her and how glad she is to be homeschooling now. I said something that resonated with her. "The main reason homeschooling is the best option for her is because of freedom. Your daughter is free from outward pressures, free from performance anxiety, free from fear of bullies, free from expectations that don't match her developmental stage, free from the disappointment of not pleasing her teacher, free from being sat down and cooped up. And because of the freedom from all those negative things, she is now free to learn, she is free to create, free to explore, free to be herself, free to be comfortable and move freely, free to go as fast or slow as needed in any subject. She is free to be who God created her to be."

Freedom: it's why we homeschool!

It's why homeschooled children are well-rounded, academically advanced, and excellent in character. Freedom in spirit, soul, and body is why whatever they study sticks; it's why they are confident and courteous and courageous. Freedom from government indoctrination is why children who are homeschooled have a higher percentage of retaining the faith of their families and becoming citizens who stand for truth and righteousness.<sup>1</sup>

Educational Freedom

Let's look at the definition of the words education and freedom. I think you will be surprised how far we have strayed from the historical meaning of these words.

Webster's 1828 Dictionary definition of education is:

The bringing up, as of a child, instruction; formation of manners. Education comprehends all that series of instruction and discipline which is intended to enlighten the understanding, correct the temper, and form the manners and habits of youth, and fit them for usefulness in their future stations. To give children a good education in manners, arts and science, is important; to give them a religious education is indispensable; and an immense responsibility rests on parents and guardians who neglect these duties.<sup>2</sup>

Webster's 1828 Dictionary definition of the word freedom is:

A state of exemption from the power or control of another; liberty; exemption from slavery, servitude or confinement. Freedom is personal, civil, political, and religious.<sup>3</sup>

We've come a long way, haven't we? It used to be that parents would exercise their liberty and take their responsibility seriously to provide an "indispensable" education for their children. Today, we lack freedom because we have given the power or control of education over to another. The children then become enslaved and confined. Their "personal, civil, political, and religious" freedom comes under scrutiny and in some cases becomes obsolete depending on the educational environment. Why would we do this to our children when the freedom of parent-led home education begets such blessing in all areas of their lives?

"Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage" (Galatians 5:1).

Freedom to Teach

As home educators, not only do our children enjoy freedom, but we have many areas of freedom as well. We are free to choose the curriculum or program or philosophy of education that fits our family best. We are free to teach in whatever style we are gifted in teaching. Some of us have the ability to make learning fun for our kids and we are free to employ that in our children's education. Some of us know how to create a literature rich environment that is conducive to deep study. Some of us know how to create a learning space that is comfortable and engaging and our children love to learn there. Some of us have strengths in nature study and narration. Some of us are chefs or engineers or entomologists and we are free to share our expertise with our children. Some of us homestead and can teach our children about the earth and animal husbandry and carpentry and energy and self-sufficiency. Some of us are educators by profession and understand a scope and sequence and follow guidelines and textbooks to completion. Some of us understand how to create a delight-directed education for our children, and some prefer to follow a more classical method.

We are free to teach in whatever way we are created to do so, and no matter the method, no matter the environment, no matter the philosophy or teaching style, our children succeed.<sup>4</sup> Freedom: it's why we homeschool!

Spiritual Freedom

I am thankful every day for the continued freedom to educate our children in our own home, in any manner we choose, and under our own Biblical values and specific spiritual instruction. I have the freedom to show my children their Creator in every topic we study, in every book we read, in every plant or animal or season. His glory is revealed in all of creation and I am free to give my children a Christian and Biblical worldview in every subject.

Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed (John 8:31-31; 36).

Freedom: Past and Future

Just as the pilgrims carved out a place of freedom for many, pioneers of homeschooling paved the way for our educational freedom. And just as the cost to the pilgrims was heavy, so was the cost to those homeschooling pioneers. Some lived in fear of the authorities taking their children away, some spent a lifetime fighting the legal fight, some lived ostracized from society, and some quietly taught their children to love learning and love their enemies. Some were silent, but their fruit spoke loudly to onlookers, as their children beamed in excellence of character. Some were loud enough that people heard and listened: "Home education works!" We are so grateful and thankful for the pathway of freedom laid out for us and for our future generations.

Although homeschooling is legal in many countries, there are still many that do not allow such freedom. We need to remember those who are persecuted for their decision to homeschool and pray for their freedom.

Historically, our forefathers set precedence in the giving of thanks to the Almighty God who in His great Providence brought them here and kept them alive and prospering and free. He is the same God who ordained the Biblical principle of parents instructing their own children and proclaiming His deeds from generation to generation (See Psalm 78).

Let's pray that the beautiful freedom of parent-led home education continues long as we keep His children Home Where They Belong. ✝

Workshop Schedule

Friday, March 11

9:30-10:30 a.m.

The Gift

Todd Wilson, Auditorium

Like you, when we began our homeschooling journey we asked ourselves, "Will we be able to teach them all they need to know for success?" There were so many options and subjects to teach them. They were loaned to us knowing almost NOTHING and we were expected to fill up their noggins and prepare them for adulthood. Little did we know then that homeschooling turned out to be not only what we taught them...but what THEY taught US. Never would we have believed how God would use homeschooling to teach us what He needed us to know as parents, homeschoolers, and as His children. So join me for an intimate time of sharing and laughing at the lessons my children taught me. My hope is that you'll start to view your homeschool day less as a time to teach and muscle through but as a gift.

11 a.m.-Noon

Fostering a Hate of Learning

Todd Wilson, Auditorium

The homeschool movement coined and promoted the idea of fostering a LOVE of learning...and yet most homeschooling moms have fostered a "hate" of learning. Instead of inspiring their children to love exploration, discovery, and learning, all of which homeschool SHOULD foster, moms find their children fighting them tooth and nail to "do school." Let me just say from the start that I BELIEVE homeschooling and learning should be fun for our children and us. Its very design enables learning to be experienced in a way NO public or private school can provide. So why is it not the case in most homeschools? I think the answer is simple: we've believed and adopted some ideas that are not true and that kill inspiration and the love of learning. Join me as we talk about helping our children LOVE to learn.

Joyful Mother of Children

LaNissir James, Chapel

As the mother of seven children, LaNissir emphasizes the foundational importance of answering the call to mother many children while nurturing each individual child's relationship with God. She discusses how to parent with godly communication and provides organizational tips to find harmony in this fast-paced world. She also shares special encouragement to help you train up your child all the way from the toddler through the teenage years.

The Power of Parental Authority

Monica Irvine, 1404

So, I don't want to offend, but parents, we are seeing entirely too many families where the children seem to be leading the family instead of mom and dad leading the family. Do you have children that tell you, "No?" Do you have children that you spend hours trying to convince them to do something you've asked? Do you find yourself giving in to your child's request even though deep down, you don't really want to? Don't beat yourself up. We've all been guilty of this at one time or another, however it's time to stop. We're not helping our children when this behavior is common in our home, instead we're actually hurting them. Come and listen to motivational speaker, Monica Irvine, as she helps unravel this tendency and give great insight on how we can regain our parental authority. It truly can change the direction of your child's life. Don't miss this!

Navigating the Exhibit Hall

Tim and Angi Bates, 1422-1423

New conference attendees can join us for a fun orientation session about conference vendors and speakers. Discover great tools for getting the most out of the conference. Join us in the Coffee Shoppe to kick off your weekend at the conference.

Trubl Spelling

Nancy Coffey, 2210

Spelling is a common frustration for many students, especially for those who have trouble reading. Learn helpful ideas for studying spelling and vocabulary and improving scores on those weekly tests. The techniques can also be used for daily spelling skills.

1-2 p.m.

Homeschool Discrimination and What We're Doing About It Dan Beasley, Auditorium

Homeschool graduates still encounter discrimination when applying for employment, admission to colleges and trade schools, social security, disability, and veteran's benefits, and participation in extracurricular competitions and programs. While homeschooling is now widely recognized as a legal form of education, there is still much work to be done to ensure that students and graduates are not discriminated against because their parents choose to exercise their right to homeschool. HSLDA continues to advocate for students and graduates who face this kind of discrimination. Come hear the stories, legal battles, and solutions for how to end homeschool discrimination.

Essential Skills for Successful Teens: Study and Time Management

LaNissir James, Chapel

The high school years are a prime opportunity to equip your teens with skills they will need for future success. If your teen is headed to college, a career, or the military, they will benefit from study and time management skills. This session provides parents and teens with ideas to incorporate these skills into high school coursework and lists resources to help cultivate these essential skills.

Homeschooling on a Shoestring Budget

Dara Halydier, 1101-1102

Homeschooling doesn't have to cost hundreds of dollars each year. With some extra time and energy, you can teach on a budget. Tracy and Dara started homeschooling while Tracy was in seminary and without a job. They continued on a minister's salary while homeschooling five children through high school. Dara will share ideas from K-12 on bargain buying and teaching without the textbooks.

Identifying and Adapting to the Challenges of Homeschooling

Yvonne Strachan, 1404

As you pour yourself into discipling and educating your children, gain confidence in your ability to

- Teach multiple children
- Accommodate your child's unique learning style
- Identify your child's changing needs
- Inspire and encourage a child facing learning difficulties
- Help advanced learners identify and cultivate their gifts
- Teach high school

Reading Struggles & Overcoming Obstacles

Deborah Wuehler, 2430

Good readers are not necessarily early readers. And early readers don't always grow up to love reading. God designs each child differently as He deems fit for His purposes. Deborah will talk about her own struggling readers and the practical things that helped them jump those hurdles. Deborah will show you how to have victory over your own obstacles as you keep your children Home Where They Belong.

Ready, Set, GO! Homeschooling in Nebraska

Danna Swartz, 2210

How to start, where to find curriculum, when to school, and what a typical day looks like are some of the areas discussed. Get an understanding of Rule 13 and gain valuable information for your homeschool journey. This workshop is a MUST for new homeschoolers.

2:15-2:45 p.m.

Vendor Workshops

Enjoy some great Exhibitor Workshops during this session!

3-4 p.m.

Invasion of the Conviction Snatchers

Todd Wilson, Auditorium

Do you have a child who doesn't want to be homeschooled, in-laws who don't understand your reasons for homeschooling, a spouse who isn't sold on the idea, or a guilt complex reminding you that you have no business homeschooling your children? Those nagging, sometimes-silent disapprovals can crush a person under the weight of guilt and despair. You sometimes feel like a wave tossed to and fro because in your heart of hearts you feel God would have you homeschool... but then again, the arguments against it are almost drowning you. Join Todd, as he goes face to face with the naysayers and shows you how to address their concerns, questions, and logic of why you shouldn't homeschool your children.

Extracurriculars & Electives – Resumes & Recommendations

LaNissir James, Chapel

Should an activity be an elective on a transcript or extracurricular activity on a resume? Which will benefit your teen most? Which has higher visibility? This seminar explains the options your homeschool has and the documentation that makes the most of these opportunities.

Nebraska Patriotic Places: Former Forts and Military Monuments

Gretchen Garrison, 1404

Forts helped stabilize Nebraska territory for early settlers. From the beginning, Nebraska has been influenced by patriotic people. Learn more about these men and women whose names live on in various ways. Join Nebraska enthusiast, Gretchen Garrison, as she shares more about military monuments and other Nebraska locations that celebrate our patriotic heritage.

Homeschooling Through Hardship

Deborah Wuehler, 2430

Hardships come in every category of life; however, they are not always a reflection of who you are, your parenting or your homeschooling. Learn to go from living in "survival mode" to learning to live in "revival mode." There is hope in the midst of the hard things if we are fully prepared, fully armed, and hidden in Christ.

Vision & Learning

Mikaela Betka, 2210

20/20 vision means you can see clearly at 20 feet what should normally be seen at that distance. However, it does not mean that you have perfect vision. Visual acuity gives no meaning about what a person sees. If your child is not achieving their full potential academically, struggling with written reading comprehension, skips lines or words when reading, reverses words or letters, or avoids reading or near work, this presentation is for you. There are more than 17 visual skills that are needed for efficient vision and learning. Children struggling with binocular vision or visual processing disorders often will not complain about symptoms because they are unaware that they visually experience things any differently than their peers. In this course, we will learn about these skills, the signs and symptoms of a visual processing disorder, and what can be done to help them be successful.

7-8:30 p.m.

Homeschooling in 2022: Liberty or License?

Dan Beasley, Auditorium

Newsflash: homeschooling is growing. Millions of new students are benefiting from a customized education at home, which has placed homeschooling in the national spotlight. With a decade of experience advocating for homeschool freedom at HSLDA, Dan will bring to life the latest policy debates surrounding homeschooling and conclude with encouragement for 2022's homeschool graduates.

followed by Graduate Recognition

Join us in celebrating the hard work of graduates and their families after the Keynote Address. This Keynote Address is free and open to the public.

Saturday, March 12

9-10 a.m.

Every Dad a Homeschooling Dad!

Todd Wilson, Auditorium

You may not crack open a book, work through a curriculum, or call it school, but it's your job to train your children. Join me as we look at the trials, triumphs, and tribulations of training our children. Now don't worry, I won't make you feel guilty or give you a 46-point outline, but I promise to tell it straight and to encourage you in the best job there is—fathering.

Recordkeeping & Organization for High School: Simplifying the Process

LaNissir James, Chapel

Keeping good records need not be time consuming nor burdensome—it actually saves you time and effort in the long run. In this workshop, you'll learn how and when to track your student's progress through high school.

Ready, Set, GO! Homeschooling in Nebraska

Danna Swartz, 1101-1102

How to start, where to find curriculum, when to school, and what a typical day looks like are some of the areas discussed. Get an understanding of Rule 13 and gain valuable information for your homeschool journey. This workshop is a MUST for new homeschoolers.

Table Manner Essentials for the Whole Family

Monica Irvine, 1404

Let's imagine...your children chew with their mouths closed, don't make weird noises at the table, never announce what they don't like at the table, sit still and respectfully while eating, show sincere gratitude each and every time they are served a meal, allow their elders to go first, never forget to ask if they can help clean up afterwards, etc. Is this a dream? Is this possible? YES OF COURSE! It's all in how you teach and approach table manners. This Parenting Master Class by Master Motivator, Monica Irvine, will teach you the pattern of teaching your family how to have impeccable table manners and how to make it fun and doable. Parents, this is not rocket science, however, if you think that your children are going to "get it" by just constant correction, then allow me to ask, "How's that working for you?" Don't miss this!

Homeschooling the Rebel

Deborah Wuehler, 2430

"I won't do it!" my child screamed after being asked to sit down and start the day's math assignment. "You will too!" I resolutely stated back. "I will not!" And thereupon ensued an all-out fight of wills. The strong-willed mother determined to win over the strong-willed child. This workshop is designed to give you helpful tips in dealing with a strong-willed child, how to nurture as well as homeschool this child, how to stay sane in the midst of anguish, and to give you hope for the future.

10:15-10:45 a.m.

Vendor Workshops

Enjoy some great Exhibitor Workshops during this session!

11 a.m.-Noon

Important Lessons to Teach Your Children - "How to Argue"

Todd Wilson, Auditorium

Everyone argues. That's the truth. I'm not talking about the righteous anger...I'm talking about the good ol' sinful kind. Some yell, some become silent, and all of us teach our children by our example. But here's the deal: there are some principles that can make those sinful arguments less damaging and more "productive". So...since you're going to argue, we might as well do it right. Join, me for a fun filled, honest look at the ugly things we do and say and for some practical rules for arguing "better."

Charting Your Way through High School for College, Career, or Military

LaNissir James, Chapel

Preparing your teens for their post-graduation goals requires advance planning. This seminar provides a timeline and checklist to ensure that important items are included! For college-bound teens, discover tips for the application and financial aid process. For teens headed into careers, explore training, employment, and workplace skills. For teens interested in a military career, learn about the military's homeschool enlistment policy and advice for applying to the service academies.

Dyslexia is Real! Imagine That!

Nancy Coffey, 1101-1102

THINK Dyslexic! Learn the facts about dyslexia. If trying to teach students with dyslexia/S.L.D. is frustrating for most teachers, consider what it must be like from the student's point of view. Engage in tasks that simulate the difficulty students with learning disabilities might have when asked to perform typical classroom work. You'll look at your role a little differently.

Teaching Math with Card Games? Yes, You Can!

Kathleen Cotter Clayton, 1404

Are you tired of flashcard? Does your child cry when you give another timed test? Are you frustrated because your child can't seem to remember the multiples of 7? Use games to teach and review math facts. This workshop will show you fabulous and effective math card games that are easy and fun. Imagine your kids asking you to practice their math facts! Come and discover games to help our child learn math!

The Erosion of Parental Rights and How to Stop It

Dan Beasley, 2430

Parental rights are foundational to a parent's right to homeschool. While the Supreme Court has historically recognized parental rights as fundamental, the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in Troxel v. Granville in 2000 has led to confusion and intensified attacks on parental liberty. Come learn how you can help protect parental rights for years to come.

Building a Biblical Self-Esteem in Your Child

Dara Halydier, 2210

Self-esteem can have a negative connotation among God's people, but it is really about a right relationship with God and a true perspective of Who God is and who we are.

As parents we have the responsibility to raise kids with a positive understanding of who God says they are. Claiming these truths can change attitudes and actions. Are you aware of how your words and actions can help or hurt your child as they find out who they are? Is communication in your home healthy and honoring to God? Dara will speak about the importance of words that build up and emotions that are handled carefully. Learning and teaching how to take every thought captive, how to replace Satan's lies with God's truths, and how to give praise to our Amazing God will give you tools towards building a healthy and Biblical self-esteem within your child's heart.

Noon-1:15 p.m.

SUPPORT GROUP LEADER LUNCH

Meet in Room 1101-1102 for lunch and fellowship.
PRE-REGISTRATION is required.

1:30-2:30 p.m.

A Homeschool Graduate Looking Back: What Worked, What Didn't, and Why I'm Homeschooling My Kids

Dan Beasley, Auditorium

Despite many stereotypes, homeschooling programs are unique and vary widely based on the student. Dan, a homeschool graduate himself, shares from his experience the benefits and challenges of homeschooling as well as the reasons why he is homeschooling his children.

High School Transcript Clinic: Practical Help and Tips

LaNissir James, Chapel

Creating a high school transcript is a vital part of your teen's high school records. In this interactive, practical seminar, you'll create a transcript that can be used as a pattern when designing your own. The session will guide you through the essentials of transcripts, how to evaluate credit, steps to simplify grading, and how to calculate grade point averages (GPAs).

Keeping Your Family Safe in the Digital World

Tyler Morten, 1101-1102

Privacy is power. The right to privacy, however, is slowly being eroded from the foundations of our society today. In this talk, we will discuss the philosophy of the Internet, what that means for our privacy and how we can protect our families and our digital information.

Building Home: How to Disciple Your Children and Manage Your Home Without Losing Your Mind

Amy Juett, 2430

Mothers have every good intention of disciplining their children in the ways of the Lord, but a lack of knowledge of how to go about it and the day-to-day necessities of keeping a home and getting lessons done often get in the way of following through on those good intentions. Using the analogy of a home from Proverbs 14:1 "The wise woman builds her house..." Amy will walk you room by room through the home looking at scriptural examples to empower mothers to build a spiritual home of discipleship for their children while gaining practical tips for managing each room in their physical homes—all without losing their minds. Come away from this workshop with a plan to implement both in the discipleship of your children and keeping of your home.

3:30-4:30 p.m.

How to Choose Relationship When There's So Much to Do
Todd Wilson, Auditorium

Years ago, a homeschool mom came up to me with a pen in hand and a notebook in the other and said, "I believe that the relationship with my children matters more than anything else...so can you tell me what "relationship" is? I didn't have a great answer at the time...but I do now. Join me as we look at TWO homeschooling moms. One spends her days doing what matters and one spends her days on what does not last. My desire is to help you and me do what matters.

Kids Conference 2022

Come study the six pieces of the armor described in Ephesians 6:10-17. In a world that is trying desperately to twist the minds and hearts, the Kids Conference will help prepare them to withstand the lies that Satan is hurling at them. Bible lessons, music, hands-on learning, and recreation to help children understand the importance of God's Word in their lives. We will explain each piece of the Armor and what its purpose is, so they will understand the importance of being prepared for spiritual battle.

Teen Conference

Convincing Proof Is the Bible from God?

In this conference students will learn good reasons and evidence to believe that the Bible is from God. Students will be equipped to answer the following questions: Many people throughout history have claimed to have messages from God, but how do we know which are really from God and which are fake? How can the Bible be from God since it was written by humans? Why do Christians believe the Bible is completely true and contains no errors? How did Christians come to the conclusion that these 66 books in particular are truly messages from God? This conference will be led by Timothy Schmidt and Adam Lloyd Johnson.

Register online at www.NCHEA.org

Conference is at Indian Hills Community Church,
1000 84th St., Lincoln, Nebraska
